Name New Administrative Staff At Lincoln-Way HS

Joe Kruzich, of Mokena, who for the past four years has been assistant superintendent of Lincoln-Way High School, has been named as superintendent of that institution for the 1969-70 school year, succeeding A. Hunter Chapman, who recently announced his retirement, effective July 1.

In announcing the appointment of Kruzich as superintendent, the Lincoln-Way board of education also named three others who will comprise the administrative staff.

Jonas Lashmet, Plaza Drive, New Lenox, guidance director and administrative assistant, will be the new assistant superintendent, and Kevin McGivern, 11628 Third St., Mokena, curriculum coordinator, and Lee Rosenquist, 19315 Union St., Mokena, director of the Student Service Organization, will be assistants to the superintendent.

Kruzich, one of the original Lincoln-Way staff, has been given many assignments in the system since 1954. He came to L-W from Virden (Ill.) High School as chairman of the industrial arts department. In 1958 he took over as basketball coach and in one season brought Lincoln-Way fans something to cheer about for the first time in the school's history. In the four years he was coach the school's basketball teams reached their greatest achievements. Fans will recall Kruzich's son, Skip, who became an all-state forward and later captained the University of New Mexico's outstanding team.

In 1959 Kruzich was named first director of the school's Student Service Organization, which is still in operation and used as a model by many other schools. He also served as athletic director for several years until his appointment as assistant superintendent.

Mr. Kruzich was graduated from Eastern Illinois University, following a distinguished career in the U.S. Marine Corps' many campaigns in the South Pacific. He was at Guadalcanal, the Solomon Islands, New Georgia and Bougainville, and received the Purple Heart following the New Georgia fighting.

He completed his graduate work in school administration at U of I, with additional work in a special summer institute sponsored by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation.

Besides their son, Skip, who is presently on active duty with the U.S. Air Force, Mr. and Mrs. Kruzich have a daughter, Rosanne, a senior at Lincoln-Way, who will enter the University of Kentucky next year. Mrs. Kruzich is also a teacher, at St. Mary School, Mokena.

Kruzich is a member of the William E. Martin Post, No. 725, VFW, Mokena; Joliet Lodge 296, B.P.O.E., and numerous professional fraternities and organizations, and has served as chairman of the Southwest Suburban Conference Assistant Administrators.

Lashmet also is one of the original Lincoln-Way staff members, joining the faculty in 1954 as a teacher of social studies and physical education. He also served as varsity football and baseball coach, and was an assistant in basketball. Lincoln-Way's football teams had their greatest success during the ten years he was in charge. Later he was appointed to the guidance department and became chairman in 1963. He was assigned by Supt. Chapman to the administrative team and has since remained in this capacity. No change is planned for next year in his present responsibilities but he will be given other assignments in the total operation of the school.

Mr. Lashmet is a graduate of ISU, where he received many honors in athletic. He received his master's degree from George Peabody College for Teachers and took his post-graduate work in guidance from the U of I, Chicago Teachers College and Long Beach State College. His original home was at Winchester, Ill., and he served two years as head grid coach at Staunton High. Mr. and Mrs. Lashmet have two sons, Mike and Scott.

Following notice of Supt. Chapman's plan to retire, the school board and Mr. Kruzich decided to elevate some of the present staff members rather than employ new personnel, and McGivern and Rosenquist were tapped.

Besides serving as curriculum director, McGivern, is also chairman of the English department. Under the new arrangement he will devote full time to curriculum, and special instructional programs, including various federal projects. There will be a new English department chairman.

McGivern is from Marenco, Ia., and taught a year at Waukon, Ia., before coming to Lincoln-Way in 1956. He became chairman of the social science department and director of instructional services, and has gained statewide recognition for his many outstanding innovations. He was one of the pioneers in large-group-team-teaching; student grouping, independent study, and integrating the speech and reading programs into the regular English curriculum. McGivern served three years in the Air Force and in the Army Engineers, seeing foreign service in Korea.

During and following military service, he attended the University of Nebraska, Iowa State Teachers, University of Iowa, University of California and University of Chicago. His graduate work was done at the University of Iowa, and the University of Chicago, where he graduated with high honors.

Mr. and Mrs. McGivern have two sons, Tim and Casey.

Rosenquist will be an assistant to the superintendent in charge of student activities and part of the discipline program. For the past two years he has directed the Student Service Organization, which provides the supervision and control of many daily study halls. He also has been one of the team leaders in the social science department and assistant to the department chairman.

Mr. Rosenquist came to Lincoln-Way in 1964 after teaching two years in Orangeville (Ill.) High School. His BA degree was earned in his home town at the University of Dubuque. He received his master's degree in school administration at Illinois State University. The Rosenquists have two daughters, Amy and Ann.

Vote School Bonds Saturday

Voters of the Frankfort Grade School District, No. 157-C, will go to the polls Saturday, March 29, to ballot on a proposed building bond issue.

The polling place will be the Frankfort School, Oregon and Hickory Sts., and the voting hours will be from 12 noon to 7 p.m.

The school board is asking authority to issue bonds in the sum of $415,000. This amount is needed, the board explained, to build an addition to Chelsea School in Connecticut Hills, and remodel portions of the Frankfort School.

Specifically, the plans call for six additional classrooms and a centrally located learning center at Chelsea School. Also the upper story of the Chelsea addition would be enclosed so that when future needs required the space be converted to classrooms, the work could be done on a more economical basis.

Remodeling at the Frankfort School will include doubling the size of the present library, development of an experiment centered science laboratory, and improving present shower facilities for boys as well as for girls. The bond issue will be sufficient for the board to purchase the equipment required by reason of the remodeling, it was said, and also enable the board to have improvements made to the grounds at both sites.

The Frankfort district has experienced rapid growth in the past year and a half, it was pointed out. Enrollment has jumped from 475 to 573, with a projected enrollment of 650 for next September, and 750 when September, 1970, arrives.

Facilities are being used to maximum capacity at present, school authorities said, and unless additional class space is provided now there will be a critical shortage of room in the 1970-71 school year.

Drawing of the proposed improvements appear on another page.

Grass Fires Pose Big Problem

Scores of grass fires have plagued area fire departments in the past two weeks.

Last Saturday flames spread over approximately 50 acres of the Andrew Corporation property south of 153d St. at Orland Park and for a time endangered nearby farms. Palos firemen joined the Orland Park Department in fighting the fire. Several hundred dollars of damage was done to a roof of one of the former Nike barracks that is now used as a warehouse.

Approximately 60 acres were burned over on the west side of Frankfort, endangering adjacent homes and Mokena firemen have been kept on the run by grass fires.

Persons burning rubbish are urged to take care that such fires do not get away from them. Police and firemen say most grass fires are caused by carelessness or are set purposely.

One of the topics will be means of attaining more publicity for Mokena. The public is invited to attend this meeting and their idea and views are welcome.

The executive board of Mokena Chamber of Commerce held a luncheon meeting Friday, March 14. A number of topics were discussed.

It was decided to compile a Mokena Directory. Jim Cooper, president, appointed Judy Niemann as chairman of the Directory project.

The Chamber is planning to take part in the Mokena Fourth of July celebration, and would like to encourage all businesses and interested parties to do so.

A suggestion was made that Mokena should improve street numbering and signs, and replace old or lost signs.

The programs were planned for the coming Chamber meetings.

Pupils Escape Injury In Bus-Car Collision

A St. Mary school bus and a car were involved in a collision Monday afternoon (March 17) at Wolf Rd. and 189th St. There were 38 youngsters on the bus, which was driven by Mrs. Katherine L. Grove, 37, of 116 Glennell Av., but none was injured.

A 10-year-old boy, Sam Caracci, 18910 S. 113th St., a passenger in a car driven by his 18-year-old sister, JoAnn, was cut on the left ear.

According to the police report the bus was traveling north on Wolf Rd. and the car was stopped to make a left turn. Mrs. Grove was reported to have said that she did not see the car until too late to avoid it and Miss Caracci reported she did not see the bus.

The bus struck the rear of the car and the front wheels of the bus were torn loose. It was expected the bus would be out of commission for about two months.

Dinner Dance To Aid School's Fund Quest

"A hundred thousand welcomes," is the translation of "Cead mile failte" from the Gaelic to English but which ever way you say it, right now it has reference to the third annual dinner dance to be held this Saturday at Lewis College for the benefit of Providence High School.

Tickets for the affair are $15 each and it has been successful as a fund raiser for high school operated by the Christian Brothers and the Sisters of Providence in New Lenox Township.

The event has even more significance this year because Providence High School is under the gun of diocesan authorities and if it is to continue to operate it must increase its revenues.

Providence is the only Catholic co-educational high school in the Joliet diocese. It has been plagued in recent years by rising costs of operation and depends upon the generosity of its friends to maintain the high standards and educational ideals to which it is dedicated.

Have You Entered Moon Contest?

A two-weeks vacation for two anywhere on Earth awaits the person who selects most closely the precise moment when the first American astronaut steps onto the Moon's surface.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES

Aids for Job Can Be Deductible

Editor's Note: It is time to think about the income tax again. This is another in a series reviewing the regulations, with emphasis on taking advantage of all exclusions and deductions legally due you.

By RAY DE CRANE

There is a windfall of deduction opportunities in the Miscellaneous Deduction section of the tax return. Many of them are frequently overlooked by taxpayers.

If any of these apply make certain they are listed on your tax return:

Union dues.
Cost of small tools used at work.
Safety shoes and goggles; special uniforms or work clothes required by men who do heat-treating work, or work around blast furnaces or who perform work in acid baths.

Cost of professional journals or trade papers required in earning your living.

Unreimbursed entertainment expense and the cost of gifts presented to customers in the ordinary and necessary course of your business.

Rental of safety deposit box if used to store securities or otherwise used in the production of income.

Casualty losses, educational expenses and child care expenses, all explained below.

Alimony payments made to a divorced wife under the terms of a divorce decree or legal separation agreement.

CASUALTY LOSSES

Uninsured losses are insured to the extent they exceed $100. The first $100 of the loss is on you; the remainder (less insurance reimbursement) is deductible.

To be deductible the loss must be of a sudden, unexpected or unusual nature. This includes an auto accident, fire, explosion, flood, earthquake, sonic boom, storm or vandalism. It does not include erosion, termite or blight damage.

To determine loss, contrast the value immediately before and immediately after the casualty.

CHILD CARE

This deduction may be claimed by an unmarried, married, widowed, divorced or deserted woman if she pays someone to look after her children in order that she may work or seek gainful employment.

The child must be under 13 to qualify, unless the child is physically or mentally incapable of self-support.

Where one child is involved the limitation on the deduction is the actual cost of the care or $600, whichever is lesser. If two or more children are being cared for under the age of 13 the limitation is hiked to $900.

A man may claim the deduction if he is a widower, is legally divorced or separated from his wife, or if his wife is physically incapacitated or institutionalized for at least 90 consecutive days or a shorter period if the stay in an institution is terminated by death.

EDUCATIONAL EXPENSES

Educational expenses incurred to maintain or improve the skills on your job or to meet your employer's specific job requirements, or by law or regulations to keep your status are deductible.

So, too, is the cost of education designed to enable you to get an advancement in your present job or to obtain a new position within your own profession, trade or business.

But such educational costs incurred to meet minimum requirements or initially to qualify you for a position or profession are not deductible.

Remember, as well, that fees paid any employment agency to help you obtain a new or better job are also deductible here.

All of the deductible items, together with filled-in sample returns showing you how to report them, are explained in more detail in the "Cut Your Own Taxes" book available to readers of this paper.

Psoriasis Shows Strong Familial Incidence

Copyright 1969 World Book Science Service

Few things on Earth plague man more relentlessly than the chronic inflammatory skin disease called psoriasis. It afflicts nearly eight million people in the U.S. The name comes from a Greek work "psora," meaning "itch", and itching is its uncomfortable symptom.

Dr. Eugene M. Farber of

Medical MEMO

By BETTY JOHN

Stanford University has compiled a mass of information about psoriasis over a 10-year period from data in a 40-part questionnaire filled out by more than 3,000 psoriatics.

The disease is not contagious, but early findings show that it has a strong familial incidence. Its onset is most frequent in the teen-age group. It affects white people in greater numbers than other races. Skin injuries seem to precipitate the psoriatic lesions.

In about 40 per cent of the cases these lesions disappear spontaneously for long periods of time.

Psoriasis is more than just a skin disease. Arthritic conditions affect about 10 per cent of all psoriatics, while emotional problems beset more than a million. There's a marked overdevelopment of the skin's blood supply.

The intensive psoriasis research at Stanford has been benefitting other types of skin conditions, especially open skin wounds. Dr. William Summerlin and Dr. Marvin Karasek have implanted small patches of healthy skin in tissue culture, where they develop into sheets of skin cell layers four to 10 times their original size.

The doctors then replant these sheets on the same person's burn wounds, where they appear to take hold and grow normally. The wound becomes completely covered with the "new skin" within 10 days.

EMPHYSEMA CLUE --

By studying horses, which develop emphysema without smoking, Dr. Gerald L.

Crenshaw of the Naval Hospital in Oakland has determined that human emphysema is a disease of the blood vessels in the lungs, rather than an air-trapping condition.

ONE-SHOT VACCINE --

In Holland, clinical trials are about to begin with a new one-shot vaccine against diphtheria, mumps, polio, tetanus and measles. It is still costly to produce, but has been proved totally safe with laboratory animals.

MAGNET RETRIEVER --

General Electric has developed for Dr. Arthur Q. Penta of Schenectady, N.Y., a long, flexible cable with a retractable magnet at its end which can be turned on and off to first position and then retrieve open safety pins in the stomach.

LIVING FOSSIL

In the waters off South Africa is what might be described as a living fossil. It is the coelacanth, a lobe-finned fish believed to be an ancestor of four-legged land animals. Such fish had been considered extinct for millions of years, but in 1939 a live coelacanth was caught.

Planes Landing On a Doughnut?

Copyright 1969 World Book Science Service

You may have heard the old saying about keeping your eye on the doughnut. Well, it may apply to airplane-landing in the not-too-distant future.

A new type of landing apparatus for airplanes has been invented. The Air Cushions Landing Gear -- ACLG for short -- uses an air cushion instead of wheels or pontoons.

A stream of air from an inflated elastic bag under the plane supports the plane just above the landing surface. When it's filled with air just prior to landing, the bag looks like a large, black doughnut.

Special material was needed to make the ACLG. It consists of layers of nylon cloth, sandwiched between layers of rubber.

It stretches easily to triple its width, but doesn't stretch all lengthwise.

Buys More Of What It Sells

An agreement to purchase an additional 35 million cubic feet of natural gas daily from one of its principal suppliers beginning Oct. 27 was announced this week by Northern Illinois Gas Company.

NI-Gas said an agreement to this effect has been signed with Northern Natural Gas Company. The agreement, subject to Federal Power Commission approval, will Because it's flexible, the doughnut conforms to the shape of the landing surface and isn't bothered at all by a bump or two.

The weight of the plane is spread out over the relatively large area covered by the bag. With regular landing wheels, the weight of the plane is concentrated on the small surface where the tires touch the runway.

So with the ACLG, the runway doesn't even have to be hard. The ACLG enables planes to land on ice, snow, swampland, sand, dirt, or even water.

The air cushion could perform like a life jacket for planes forced down over water.

As the ADLG is improved and modified, you can be sure you'll be hearing more about it. So next time you're at an airport, watch for doughnuts!

Connect the dots to find out what a plane equipped with ACLG might look like.

increase NI-Gas' daily purchase from Northern Natural to 127,250,000 cubic feet and boost total purchases from its four pipeline suppliers to nearly 1.4 billion cubic feet a day. This, with the gas the utility has in underground storage, will enable it to deliver nearly three billion cubic feet of gas on the coldest day next winter to its more than one million customers.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

The basic philosophy of the funeral service is "to each his own". All races in all lands have conducted funerals and burial services symbolic of their customs and beliefs.

In the U.S., the funeral service is highly personalized and nine out of ten citizens interviewed by researchers wish to keep it that way.

Our funeral establishment is dedicated to provide a funeral service that fulfills the wishes of the bereaved family.

Approve Zoning Change For Krusemark Apartment

Final approval of a zoning change which will permit Albert H. Krusemark to proceed with the building of an apartment house off Nebraska St. at the east end of the village, has been given by the Frankfort village board.

The village zoning board of appeals approved the change of land parcels classified as R-1 and B-1, to R-3, which permits multiple dwellings, at a hearing Jan.

23. No objections were voiced at that time altho there were several persons present who later protested.

The village board listened to the objectors at two meetings and Krusemark met with them on another occasion. With a full board present at last week's meeting the recommendation of the zoning board that Krusemark's petition be granted was given approval.

Because a formal protest against the zoning change had been lodged with the village board it was necessary for three-fourths, or six of the members, to vote for the recommendation if it was to carry. On roll call Trustee Robert Dean, Lynn Kohl-hagen, John Topp, Wilbert Klier and Howard Osmus and Mayor Glenn Warning voted to approve the recommendation. Trustee Jerry Francis voted against it.

At the time of the vote Trustee Dean brought out that the village should have preliminary plat plans from subdividers so the board would know what it intended before the final plans are made. He also said that on several occasions the board had suggested that Krusemark provide it with an overall plan for his holdings that he intends to sell or use for building, showing the layout for drainage, sanitary sewers, water mains, and streets, as well as outline the types of buildings planned. Krusemark agreed that such a plan would be made and he added that he had asked an engineering firm to draw one up but that apparently the press of other business had prevented it from doing the job. He said that he would strive to get action.

He will not submit plats for final approval until he is ready to develop them, Krusemark explained because a change in property status would mean a change in taxes so developers do not file a subdivision plat until they are ready to go. He did agree, however, that it would be a good thing to furnish the village with a preliminary plan outlining the intentions for the area.

The board will ask this of all developers.

Chief of Police Ted Massey, who was present at the meeting, told the board that three of the auxiliary police force have served their probationary period and are ready to be sworn in. The oaths will be administered at the next meeting of the village board, April 7. The three men to be sworn in are Jay Massy, William Bachochin and Weldon Nussbaum.

One of the officers, Wayne Mangum, is attending the police course offered at Joliet Junior College at his own expense.

Chief Massey said there was room for four places on the auxiliary list and men interested may call him.

Assistant Chief Walter Johnson won a trophy at the Second Annual Invitational shoot, sponsored by the Tingley Park police department.

Change That Can Alter Soc. Sec.

Residents of the Will County area who are receiving monthly social security checks are reminded by W.T. James, social security manager in Joliet, Illinois, to report directly to the Joliet District Office any change of address or other events affecting continued receipt of their checks.

Reports may be made by mail, phone, or in person. Appropriate report forms are available at this office.

James said this reporting method enables the district office to take advantage of the increased capacity of its high speed communications circuits to transmit information to record centers. Until recently, social security beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about the occurrence of these events by mailing pre-addressed postcard forms to a record center.

The Rocky Mountains are rich in minerals.

Mokena Art Exhibit Highlight Of Hobby Show March 29

Telephone 479-9321

One of the highlights of the annual hobby show to be staged Saturday at Willowcrest School by the Mokena Woman's Club will be the showing of a dozen or more of the paintings of the talented Alice Lauffer, who spent her girlhood here.

The hobby school will open at 10 a.m. and run to 3 p.m. and everyone is invited. Luncheon will be served during the hours of the show and there will be a sale of baked goods and Easter baskets. Hobbies embracing wood carving, model aircraft, ceramics, rocks and minerals and driftwood will be displayed. Girl Scouts will provide free baby sitting.

The paintings of Miss Lauffer to be shown are the property of area residents, who have loaned them for the occasion. Miss Lauffer also is sending down two paintings she has refused to part with, one a brick wall and the other an abstract of a woman that is continually changing appearance and position.

Miss Lauffer, the daughter of Mrs. Florence Pittman, was born on a farm in Frankfort Township but later resided at Mokena while she was attending school.

It was the late Mrs. Esther Richardson, art instructor at Joliet Township High School, who inspired Miss Lauffer to turn serious attention to art. After graduating from high school Miss Lauffer studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and later studied lithography at the Chicago Art Institute. She now lives at Evanston where she has her studio.

Out of 1,500 entries submitted recently to the Art Institute for Watercolors U.S.A., 39 were selected that will be shown on a tour of the east and mid-west, and Miss Lauffer is represented in this collection. Her work is also among the 89 paintings chosen out of 2,000 for Pictures U.S.A.

She is also one of the 20 winners out of 1,500 entries in the 72d Chicago Exhibit now being shown at the Art Institute until April 20. Her water color, "Astro Series 039" has received the Brodus James Clark Memorial Award.

Miss Lauffer's paintings have hung continuously in the Art Institute's sale and rental gallery since 1960 and the Village of Winnetka has just purchased one of her cityscapes.

She does portraits, abstracts, landscapes and cityscapes. Miss Lauffer will be unable to be at Mokena Saturday because she is attending a press luncheon at the Chicago Art Institute that day and will be a guest of honor at a reception there that night for the recent prize winners in the Institute's exhibit.
